Mary Harding Greene county authorities are holding a 28-year-old foundry worker on open charges following a shooting near Cedarville which claimed the life of the man's 24-year-old housekeeper. The man's name was given as John W. Buckner, with the shooting victim's name listed as Mary Bell Harding.

Clark county Coroner Austin Richards, who was called to the Springfield City hospital to investigate after the woman was pronounced dead on arrival there at 6:25 p. m. Wednesday, heard this version of the incident:

Buckner, in a statement to the coroner, claimed the shooting followed an argument between him and his housekeeper in his home about three miles northeast of Cedarville on the Gravel Pit road. The argument, according to Buckner, was over money loaned him by the woman's mother. Buckner's statement continued that the argument broke out as the two prepared to attend the harness races in Troy where they had been the night previously.

During the course of the argument, Buckner asserted, the housekeeper struck him with a stove poker.

At the same time, he told the coroner, he noticed in the yard a stray dog which he had been wanting to kill for several days. He then went to the bedroom and got his 12-gauge shotgun and was on his way through the kitchen to the yard when Miss Harding grabbed the gun by the barrel and attempted to wrest it away from him, he related.

The gun then was discharged, according to Buckner, the shot striking the woman in the abdo-

Coroner Richards ruled the woman's death was due to a prihemorrage and shock caused by the gunshot wound. In his statement Buckner continued that he called his parents immediately, then telephoned the McMillen funeral home in Cedarville for ambulance service.

The ambulance stopped off in Cedarville and Dr. Donald F. Kyle was summoned to give the victim medical care. Seeing the seriousness of the wound, the doctor instructed the ambulance driver to take Miss Harding to Springfield City hospital, where she was pronounced dead upon arrival. Buckner rode with the ambulance. Coroner Richards reported the incident to local police authorities who picked up Buckner and charged him with being a fugitive. A short time later he was turned over to attaches from the Greene county sheriff's office. He was being held there for investigation and questioning. Coroner H. C. Schick of Greene county and Prosecutor George Smith were to confer with sheriff's office attaches regarding the case Thursday morning. Sheriff George Henkel and deputies quizzed Buckner late Wednesday night and reported that his accident version of the affair seemed to hold water. Buckner told his questioners that the slain woman was angry at him although he was not angry at her, Chief Deputy L. C. McCoy reported. This, Buckner said, led her to seize the gun from him. Deputy McCoy took photo graphs at the shooting scene Wednesday night as photographic

CLARENCE J. BROWN Writes With a Buckeye In Congress

As this column is being written the House is preparing for a show-down vote on the Administration's Public Housing Bill. The final roll on the measure is expected to be close. Under the provisions of the bill the Government would be obligated to spend as much as 16 billion dollars, and the states and local communities as much as 6 billion, on a public housing, If the measure becomes law 80 to 90 per cent of the housing constructed will be in a dozen of the large cities of the nation, with but little construction in the smaller communities. As introduced the measure would cost Ohio taxpayers an estimated 1 billion 44 million dollars, or $134.00 for each man woman and child in the state. Based on the latest census figures, the cost of the proposed public housing program to the people of Champaign County would be approximately $3,325,942.00; for Clark county $13,462,444.00; Clinton County $3,365,000.00: for Fayette CCounty $2,666,000.00; for Greene $5,-660,000,00; for Logan County $3,505,000,00; for Madison County $2,735,000.00: for Union County $2,448,000.00; and for Warren County $4,211,000.00. The total cost to the people of the Seventh District would be $41-

When the Senate and House, adjourned Thursday afternoon for the weekend to reconvene Monday night, we had put in our ninety-sixth legislative day since the present General Assembly started work on January 3rd. Last week was the twenty-sixth week of the session, and the most optimistic observers figure it will be mid-July before the merry-go-round stops whirling.

This week should be classed as quiet in the House deliberations. On Monday night we passed a Senate bill providing for the disposition of revenues belonging to the city of Cincinnati which accured to them from their foresight in financing a railroad right following the Civil War operating between that city and Chattanooga, Tennessee. course the city leases the property for operation purposes, but the revenues have been a substanial support in their economy.

Tuesday we passed legislation which attempts to equalize appraisal values on real property which can be of much monetary value to Greene county. It is and has been for years one of the most controversial questions pertaining to the the collection of taxes. It is current talk around the Legislatuhe that certain counties are materially undervalued in comparison with others. If this is true, and since each county is the unit for taxation purposes, it must follow that the county under-valued benefits in the distribution of state subsididies. Highway Dept. Asks for Safe Driving on Fourth

Drive safely and be alive after the Fourth of July weekend was the appeal made today to Ohio motorists by T. J. Kauer, Director of the Ohio Department of Highways.

Although fireworks no longer constitute the chief hazard, Director Kauer pointed out that the Fourth is still the most dangerous day of the year because of traffic accidents and drownings... And traffic accidents, he reminded, are by far a greater hazard than drownings.

Kauer urged motorists to celebrate the Fourth by taking it easy in traffic and being on the alert for other drivers who are not smart enough to be careful. The State Highway Department's Division of Traffic and Safety offered these safety tips .__

to speed. Remember that Speeders Lose.

(2) Adjust speed to the condition baler, Bob Cotter phone 6-4205. of the road, weather, traffic, your car and yourself. (3) Do your slowing down before reaching curves and intersections. (4) Don't cut in and out of heavy traffic. Stay in line until passing is safe. (5) At night drive so that you can stop within the clear, illuminated distance ahead. (6) Don't drink if you drive and don't drive if you drink.

"Drive as if your life depended on it—because it does," added Kauer. "Speed Kills — Take it Easy!"
