FIFTY-SIXTH YEAR NO. 51

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY NOVEMBER 24, 1933

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—The state capital will have the general assembly as guests once more this year. Governor White has fixed December 6 as the date to call the law-making body in special session to adopt a liquor control code. He also has set the first or second week in January for convening the legislature in another special session to enact new revenue laws. However, there were strong indications the past week that tax problems will be included in the program for the special session week after next. This city will also entertain the delegates to the state repeal convention on Dec. 5.

Bound volumes of the annual report of State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy for 1932 became available to the public last week. This report contains much valuable information pertaining to the finances of all state departments, institutions, commissions and other state activities; statistics relating to county, municipal and school operations, and other phases of governmental finances, and also includes historical and descriptive sketches of state departments. The Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, D. O. Heeter, state auditor, has also issued a report for 1932 under direction of the State Auditor. One table shows the total expenditures of the 110 cities of the state last year as $111,859,175.04. The largest item of the ten divisions of expenditure was $23,453,703.80 for debts and interest, constituting 21 per cent of the total. The greatest value of the report is in showing the comparative tax rates and per capita debt in the cities, figures which vary greatly.

A large number of questions involving the recent election were referred to Secretary of State George S. Myers for final decision. These included disputes over contested ballots, naturalization subjects and tie votes. The last were decided by tossing coins under provision of the state law which permits settling such disputes by lot. One of the most interesting points raised comes from Washington C. H., where a ruling by the Secretary of State that two disputed ballots should be counted resulted in a tie vote for mayor. A flip of a silver coin resulted in former Mayor Peter H. Curtin winning. A gold coin was facetiously rejected because this country is now off the gold standard. The number of election disputes coming to the Secretary of State was in reality comparatively small considering that approximately 9,500 city and village officials, 10,000 education board members, 4,200 township trustees, 1,350 township clerks, 2,000 justices of the peace and 1,750 constables were elected in the state.

The Ohio Board of Cosmetology desires that all beauty shop owners, managers and operators; all owners, managers and instructors connected with schools of cosmetology, all manicurists and others in Ohio who come under the new cosmetology law be notified that they can make application for licenses on and after Nov. 27 at the board headquarters, 1115 Wyandotte Building, Columbus. No examinations will be required at present of those now in business, and they will automatically receive licenses. It is estimated by the board that over 30,000 persons will come under the provisions of the new law.

The State Department of Public Education has issued three important publications. One provides regulations covering the computation of school attendance, and was prepared by Joseph W. Fichter, assistant director of education, and D. H. Sutton, supervisor, Division of School Finance Accounting. Its purpose is to secure a uniform basis for distributing revenues accruing from the liquid fuel and intangible taxes to the school districts of the state. Another bulletin provides regulations and schedules for state aid school districts for the 1933-34 school year, and was prepared by the Division of Educational Equalization. The third publication is a digest of the school laws enacted by the 90th general assembly at the regular and special sessions. It was prepared by Arthur A. Schwartz of the Legislative Reference Division under direction of Director B. O. Skinner.

Perry L. Green of Hiram, former State Director of Agriculture and representative from Portage county, was elected president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation at its annual convention here last week. He succeeds L. B. Palmer of Pataaskala, who served ten years. Mr. Green was treasurer of the organization until his selection as president.

The final hearing on the proposed Hanes road in Beaver Creek Twp., will be held by the county commissioners on Dec. 4.

SCHOOL NEWS

An illustrated lecture on Alaska given by Mr. George B. Smith, financial representative of C. F. Kettering of General Motors, took the place of the usual Monday morning chapel hour this week. The facts, clearly presented in the lecture by Mr. Smith and beautifully illustrated by the colored slides, will linger long in the memories of those present.

Teachers Join Red Cross
The teachers of the local public schools have again responded one hundred per cent to the annual Red Cross Roll Call. Since the school pupils, whose parents are unable to provide sufficient food and clothing, are especially benefited by this organization's work, the staff is glad to take advantage of an opportunity to help. If the people of the community could only realize the amount of good the Red Cross does for the children, there would surely be a good response to Roll Call in Cedarville. Already this year, much material has been furnished by the Red Cross and is being made into garments by the girls of the Home Economics Department.

Best Cattle Ever Shipped

The finest shipment of extra heavy cattle ever to leave Greene county was shipped from here last Friday. This statement is from Alex. Thompson, veteran cattle buyer, who sent the cattle to eastern markets.

Forty-four head were shipped by Frank Townsley and son, Ralph, and 23 head by William Frame. The Townsley cattle weighed 1160, having gained 660 pounds. They were grazed during the summer and placed on full feed for the second time this fall. The Frame cattle were dry lot fed before on feed a full year.

There has been no speculation as to how much the cattle netted the feeders but considerable discussion as to what the figures were in '33.

Scarlet Fever Dangerous Disease

A recent death in Greene County from one of the complications of Scarlet fever emphasizes the fact formerly stated, that scarlet fever is essentially a dangerous disease. "Scarlet rash" and "scarletina" are only variations of scarlet fever and are potentially dangerous. A case of scarlet fever may be very mild, yet convey a most serious or fatal case to another person.

The mild unreported, unquarantined case is the chief factor in disseminating the disease. For uninformed persons "are reluctant to consider this mild form seriously," hence make no effort to protect themselves and children or their neighbors from this serious menace to health and even to life itself. A very mild case of the disregarded "rash," within a few weeks after an apparent recovery, may cause a serious or fatal inflammation of heart or kidneys. Only the future can reveal how many deaths or permanent invalids from enlarged glands, suppurating ears, damaged kidneys and crippled hearts, may result from our so-called "scarlet fever scare" but in disease as elsewhere "He who knows nothing fears nothing."

From November 1st to November 15th, 1273 new cases of scarlet fever were reported in the State, 19 of which were in Dayton, 4 of which were in Greene County, outside of Xenia. Three of these cases occurred in homes already under quarantine where unfortunately "housing conditions are such that the first patient could not be completely isolated. These unavoidable, repeated, or continuous contacts in several homes have prolonged the quarantine period, but almost without exception, members of quarantined families have been kind and patient, willingly submitting to the many inconveniences of quarantine in order to protect others.

The school authorities of Beaver Creek, including board members, superintendent, teachers and janitors have been most helpful and co-operative in doing what was considered best and they deserve the thanks of the community.

BIG SUIT DISMISSED

The largest suit of recent years ever filed in Common Pleas Court has been dismissed. The action was against E. S. Kelly, of Whitehall Farm, owner of the Arcade in Springfield. The Stephens Hotel System, Inc., which held a lease on the hotel in that building brought suit for $125,000, claiming damages after a food market had been established in the Arcade.

RECORDS KEPT ON FARM COST OF ELECTRICITY

The importance of electricity on the farm was shown on a county tour to electrical demonstration farms Tuesday.

During the past year a number of farms have cooperated with the Dayton Power and Light Co., and agricultural engineering department of Ohio State university in keeping records on the amount of electricity used by various farm and home electrical appliances. Special meters were attached to each piece of equipment including the following: Electric range, deep well and cistern pumps, feed grinder, milk cooler, milking machine, cream separator, incubator, corn sheller, 15 horsepower motor, electric brooder, electric hotbed, refrigerator, poultry house lighting, washing machine, iron, radio and hot water heater.

The tour started from the Dayton Power and Light Co. office in Xenia, at 9 o'clock and visited the following farms in the forenoon: Frank Collins and Edward Givens on the Fairfield pike and Horace Anderson of Alpha.

A free luncheon was served by the company at noon in the K. of P. hall at Alpha. At this place I. P. Blauer of Ohio State university and Charles Poland, field man of the power company spoke on the "Possibilities of Economic Use of Electricity on the Farm and in the Home." Miss Inez Plotner of the home educational department of the Dayton Power and Light Co. discussed electrical appliances of the home.

In the afternoon the tour stopped at the William Shoemaker dairy farm at Alpha, Thomas Faulkner farm in Caesarscreek Twp., and home of H. C. Finker of Jamestown.

At each farm the various appliances were inspected and the host, Mr. Poland and Prof. Blauer commented on their use. Records show the amount of work done and the actual cost of operation.

Promoting Sale Christmas Seals

In 1928 a committee of doctors chosen from the Greene County Medical Association organized the Greene County Public Health League. The birth of this organization was a declaration to the citizens of all Greene County that no longer would the sale of tuberculosis seals be the responsibility of a few interested women but that the county as a whole would accept the responsibility. The responsibility is three-fold: prevention, abatement, and education of tuberculosis.

Co. Commissioners Have Not Refused To Cooperate

What appeared to be a wide difference of opinion between the Xenia city authorities and county commissioners over plans for federal relief is not what reports indicated.

According to the county authorities they have not refused to cooperate but were not going to rush into something until they knew their ground.

Under rules last year the county commissioners took care of the unemployed through the township trustees and other relief agencies, with little or no expense.

This year from reports the commissioners must set up a separate organization with fixed salaries, and the salaries of each specified, and auto mileage to those who must travel the county. It is estimated that such an organization would cost the county about $1,000 a month.

Farmer Friends Lend Aid In Corn Harvest

Forty-four friends and neighbors of Mr. Burton Turner gathered at his home last Friday and harvested his corn crop, putting it in the crib and barn. Mr. Turner is ill in a sanitarium at Dayton.

While the shredder was in operation eighteen men went to the field to husk shock corn and by four o'clock the work was completed.

The ladies of the Kensington Club planned and served a sumptuous cafeteria dinner at noon. Mr. and Mrs. Turner wish to express their sincere thanks to all those who helped or contributed in any way.

No arrests were made and motorists were treated kindly but given to understand what was expected of them.

J. J. Curlett Named Deputy Registrar

County Auditor J. J. Curlett, who by law is designated one of the registrars for issuing auto licenses, has been named also by Glen M. Daily, head of the state department.

Dilver Belden, secretary of the Greene County Automobile Club, has also been named a deputy and license will be issued from that office in Xenia. Commercial car applicants must have a certificate of weight slip covering weight capacity of the truck. Commercial tags will come from Columbus.

WHAT IS TO BECOME OF THE SMALL TOWN?

A feature writer in a Chicago paper uses a letter from a Xenia business man, under copyright, that asks the above very important question.

Xenia recently lost a shoe factory over labor trouble that is credited to the NRA. The factory was started by a local citizen and later joined with Cincinnati interests and the Cincinnati branch moved to Xenia because of labor trouble.

With labor trouble over the NRA the company finds no advantage in a smaller town and removes the plant to Cincinnati resulting in vacant homes, merchants hard hit because the NRA took away the advantage the small city enjoyed over the large city.

What the nation is suffering from most is the fact that our center of government was in Washington, where influence of the industrial east easily outweighs demands of the west.

Under a former administration Wall Street was the dominating factor. Under the NRA union labor, with various trusts hiding behind the anti-trust laws, now find a new way to pull at the purse strings of commerce and retail trade.

The problem of the small business institution is that it cannot get a large enough volume of business to justify present overhead. Large department stores in cities have profited by the NRA and boost its cause at all times.

The industrial east has never had much concern for the rural west under any administration. In former years the United States Senate has been completely dominated by great financial interests and it has not been often that the average citizen or farmer has had a spokesman in that body from Ohio.

We have no great hopes of the NRA being a success as it stands or is now being operated for Gen. Johnson is digging a deeper grave for it with each speech he makes. Our concern as the situation is surveyed is that Congress is to be asked to make the NRA permanent by legislation at the next session.

THE DANGER OF FIAT MONEY

The economic health of America is vigorous enough and its economic resources are great enough to warrant confidence that our business fabric will withstand the pending or threatened experiments, with one exception—resort to fiat money.

The experiment of the NRA, even if it proves unsuccessful, will not be fatal. The price-fixing and processing-tax methods of the AAA may fail, but agriculture will survive. But if the country is plunged into an orgy of uncontrolled inflation stark disaster lies ahead.

There are two directions from which this danger may come. The first of these, and the most obvious, and consequently the least likely, is through deliberate congressional action, authorizing the printing of unsecured promises of the government to pay, to be used as lawful money.

The other direction from which the paper money evil impends is less easily discerned. It is, therefore, the more dangerous. Resort to printing-press money can be forced on the country involuntarily if expenditures by the treasury are permitted upon so great a scale as to impair the credit of the nation.

There are multiplying signs on the economic horizon that the federal credit structure has been subjected to the maximum strain within the limits of safety. Under such conditions the country has the right to expect that the President will listen to the counsels of his soundest and most experienced financial advisers, and put aside for a safer and less critical time experiments with our monetary structure.

Gold prices increase daily which will send up the value of the "Golden Calf."

Balbo was a hero in the U. S. but Mussolini is the Gen. Johnson in Italy and takes all honors by sending the hero to an African colony.

Why should not some attorney charge more than others for the same work? The high prices ones will admit they should have more than just a common ordinary lawyer.

Big things are going on in educational circles from dispatches the past few days.

Big bankers in the east are trying to set up a program of trouble for the new bank deposit guarantee that goes into effect the first of the year.

When it comes to cat stories we find one in a Dayton paper that is unusual.

About three years ago Ohio spent six million dollars in erecting a palace for housing state employees in Columbus.

How is hard liquor to be sold in Ohio now that repeal of the eighteenth amendment is a certainty?

A timely topic this week is the recognition of Russia by the Roosevelt administration.

One objection given for opposing recognition of Russia has been that the former Imperial government repudiated private debts some years ago and they yet remain unpaid.

several million dollars without bond, when she was asking for cancellation of part of her war debt and only making partial payments. It is going to be hard for some Senators to excite the people on the Russian situation.

It is no uncommon thing nowadays to pick up a metropolitan newspaper and in it find a "clipped" editorial from a small daily or a weekly paper that has touched on one of the important topics of the day.

Some new things are promised in the automobile world. This week General Motors announced that the present type of front axles in that line of cars would be replaced with a new assembly not heretofore known by drivers.

Those who read the statement of the Xenia National Bank in our last issue certainly found satisfaction that this institution would have no trouble in meeting government terms for guarantee of bank deposits.

Senator William E. Borah, Republican, Idaho, in a speech before the National Grange said: "The farm problem is a money problem. It is not the problem of our production. There are too many hungry people in the world. It is not want of industry or efficiency on the farm. There is ample proof to the contrary. It is price-fixing, except as prices are fixed by an efficient monetary system and by irrefragable economic laws. God never made a brain big enough nor wise enough to take the place of the cumulative intelligence, energy and industry of the millions who run the farms."

The writer of this column has consistently opposed the manner and method of much of the so-called relief, both federal and state. We have not one word of criticism of worthy relief but we do oppose any system that breeds pauperism and takes away the incentive for individual responsibility. We know that hundreds of others share our view. The reckless expenditure of public funds for so-called relief projects at fifty and sixty cents an hour is unjustified. The creation of expensive boards and commissions to handle relief work when we have duly elected officials for that purpose, is a pure waste of the taxpayer's money, and at the same time leaves that much less for relief where relief is needed. When the time comes, and evidently it is here, that relief workers can be guaranteed a salary and expenses far in excess of the profits of a 150 acre farm, we are not spending state or national income but squandering our capital. The Greene County Commissioners had reason to go slow until they knew what this thing is all about.

Things about the court house will seem more natural from now on. One fact has been absent for four or five months, but now that County Surveyor W. J. Davis has about recovered his health we find him at his desk once more. He was taken ill early in the summer and went to his old home in Gallia county to regain his health. His many friends will rejoice that he is with us once more.

J. G. McCorkell, who issues hunting licenses in this community, had an unusual rush last week and he exhausted his supply. All he could do was issue a temporary certificate until the state could supply him with more supporters, mostly Unhappy Hunters. It is said more than 500,000 licenses were issued in the state.

Temperance Notes

Sponsored by Cedarville W. C. T. U.

George H. Kiefer, president of the U. S. Brewing Company is reported by the Associated Press as saying: "We have the saloon today. Whether whiskey should be sold with beer is not up to the brewer to decide, but I don't see how you are going to keep whiskey out of the saloon."

"All the umpires together have not put as many ball players out of the game as old man booze."—Connie Mack.

"Alcohol kills more men than war and kills them more dishonorably."—Cardinal Mercier.

"Alcohol puts the man to sleep and awakens the beast."—Dr. Saint Jaques, Uruguay.

"To talk of alcohol as a food is really absurd."—Dr. Woods Hutchison.

"There isn't a thought in a hog's head of beer."—Theodore Roosevelt.

Democracy is something deeper than liberty—it is responsibility. The Eighteenth Amendment closed 177,790 licensed saloons.

Twenty-six million reasons for total abstinence—twenty-six million motor vehicles.

"Corkscrews have sunk more people than cork jackets have ever saved."—Sir Thomas Lipton.

"Whose boy, whose girl, whose father and mother will you offer through drink to keep the traffic going?" Does it bring money into the treasury of the country, the state and the community? If so, at whose expense? What would you take for your child? How much? The more he drinks the more revenue for the business. Whose boy will we offer, whose child, whose parent?—The N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Beer propaganda pours into millions of homes via radio; and the general attitude of American editors is appalling in its complete misunderstanding of the situation. Already, beer drunkenness is increasing. Sleep-headed, beer-filled automobilists are responsible for accidents which are not receiving proper attention by the newspapers. Traffic mortalities are going up.

Newspapers can aid in temperance instruction by refusing beer ads.

Mrs. Henry Peabody of Washington, D. C., president of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement, says: "President Roosevelt, who swore to preserve, protect, and defend the constitution, apparently plans to preserve it in alcohol."

If the 18th Amendment is repealed, we have this to say that it will be a sad day for the people of this nation when the leaders pronounce the government and the liquor traffic as husband and wife again after they had been divorced.

God says no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven but when he speaks of the man who makes the liquor that made the drunkard, and the man who sells it and the man who votes for its sale he says: "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth the bottle to him and maketh him drunken."

When beer was outlawed folks took to milk drinking, until the milk business increased beyond the producers' fondest hopes; and they were obliged to install new machinery and equipment to care for the business. Now, Eugene Corry. Those attending are after four months of legalized beer, from the drop-off in business that the milk dealers are in such a plight the government found it necessary to give off was born in Russia but is an exile in this country where his musical talent is recognized by lovers of music to donate another thirty million? In other words, how many thirty millions are going to be required to keep beer legalized?

Among the children who are close contacts with tuberculous people there is a definite probability that some of those children are active cases. To find these early cases of tuberculosis requires the constant attention of a nurse who will refer the children or parents to a physician for examination. The Greene County Public Health League has a specific purpose; the health of the county and its chief foe is tuberculosis.

The ladder slipped and the contents of the bottle spread over his face, arms and feet. An antidote was applied as quickly as possible and Dr. M. I. Marsh summoned. ROSETTA AND VIVIAN DUNCAN COME TO DAYTON

The international stage and screen stars, the Duncan sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, will appear in person at the RKO Keith theatre in Dayton for the week starting Friday, November 24th in their own musical comedy success "Topsy and Eva."

The Dayton Keith theatre has booked this popular attraction for the Thanksgiving week in celebration of the theatre's eleventh anniversary. The complete musical production of "Topsy and Eva" will be seen with the same stars—a cast of forty-five singers, dancers, comedians and the same elaborate settings and tuneful music just as it was presented for three years on Broadway and in Chicago.

The Duncan sisters have written new music to bring the production up to date and in three acts and two interludes but running continuously in conjunction with the feature picture "Little Women" from Louisa M. Alcott's literary masterpiece. Rosetta Duncan will play her favorite role of "Topsy" and promises to be "as wicked" as ever. "Little Eva" the golden-haired angel, will be played by Vivian Duncan. "Topsy and Eva" is a musical comedy burlesque of the famous play "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It is presented at popular prices.

"Only Yesterday" Regent—"College Coach"—State

Is a woman's love more lasting than a man's? What of the man who loves—and forgets—and the woman who loves, and remembers?

These questions and many others are prompted by the story of "Only Yesterday," which opens for a six-day run at the Regent theatre, Springfield, on Friday, Nov. 24.

John Bole, Margaret Sullivan and ninety-one other stars participate in the picture. It is a show that should attract the entire family, having universal appeal.

In "College Coach," which opens with a special preview at the State theatre, Springfield, on Friday evening, Nov. 24, Dick Powell gets his first chance at a real dramatic role. Playing the part of a young football star, Dick makes the most of one sequence which gives him the opportunity of singing. Patrons who wish to see Lionel Barrymore in "One Man's Journey" as well as "College Coach," should be in the theatre by 9:45 p. m. Friday.

"Havans Widows," with Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell, Guy Kibbee and many others, opens Wednesday, Nov. 29, at the State.
