10-24-2008

Jack Coldiron, Baritone, and Sara Davis, Piano

Department of Music and Worship, Cedarville University

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.cedarville.edu/guest_artists

Recommended Citation

Department of Music and Worship, Cedarville University, "Jack Coldiron, Baritone, and Sara Davis, Piano" (2008). Guest Artists. 16.
http://digitalcommons.cedarville.edu/guest_artists/16
The Cedarville University Department of Music, Art & Worship

presents

Jack Coldiron
Baritone

Sara Davis
Piano

Friday, October 24, 2008 8:00 p.m.

Recital Hall
Bolthouse Center for Music
Dixon Ministry Center
Program

Un ombra di pace ........................................ Giovanni Bonocini (1670-1747)

Selections from SAMSON ................................. George Frederich Handel (1685-1759) Recitative: They good we wish for Aria: They glorious deeds inspired my tongue

LE BESTIAIRE ........................................... Francis Poulenc (1899-1963)
Le dromadaire
La chèvre du Thibet
La sauterelle
Le dauphin
L'écrevisse
La carpe

THREE IRISH MELODIES ................................. arr. Ianthe Dalway Love Entrapped Me (Robinson’s Air)
Love Repaid (The Heathery Riggs of Mourne) Killiney Strand (Maggie Picking on the Shore)

Selections from A SHROPSHIRE LAD (A.E. Housman) ............................ George Butterworth (1885-1916)
When I was One and Twenty Look Not In My Eyes
Is My Team Ploughing?
The Lads In Their Hundreds

Waldwanderung ............................................ Edvard Grieg (1843-1907)
Ich liebe dich
Im Khane
Mit einer Wasserlilie
Auf der Strome

Evening Hours ............................................. Richard Hundley (b. 1931)
Sweet Suffolk Owl
Epitaph on a Wife

I Would in That Sweet Bosom Be ........................ Ben Moore (b. 1960)
To the Virgins to Make Much of Time

Long Ago in Alcala ...................................... Andre Messager (1853-1929)
Translators

Un ombra di pace
The shade of peace covers my heart;
Pain and anguish are vanished
And I am pleased and happy, I am content in joy and in pain
As I turn aside from weeping To embrace hope and trust.

Le dromedary
With his four camels Don Pedro d'Alfarouberia roamed the world over and admired it. He did what I would like to do if I had four camels.

Le chevre du Thibet The hair of this goat and even the hair of gold for which Jason took so much trouble are worth nothing to the value of the hair of her I love.

La sauterelle
Here is the delicate grasshopper, the nourishment of St. John. May my verses be likewise the feast of superior people.

Le dauphin
Dolphins you sport in the sea yet the waters are always briny. At times my joy bursts forth, but life is still cruel.

L’ecrevisse Uncertainty. O! my delights you and I we progress just like the crayfish, backwards, backwards.

La carpe
In your fish ponds, in you pools carp how long you live. Is that death has forgotten you, melancholy fish?

Waldwanderung You sweet bride, my gracious wife, my wealth, my world! O come, the moon shines so clear from the heavens, the night is still throughout the land, the mellow moon shines through the Beech grove. Come, we go hand in hand in the wild flowers.

In this clear still night, my love, with you along how very free I am now in the Beech grove! Sing nightingale; shine golden moon.
I wish for nothing more in my heart; you sweet bride, gracious wife, my riches, my joy!

You are as fresh as the forest breeze, as the nightingale’s song, as peaceful as the summer night. We go then where the tall Beech trees stand and the bright moonlight shines. Come sweet bride, charming wife, my riches, my joy!

Ich liebe dich
You have become thought of my thought, you are my heart’s first love. I love you, as no one here on earth. I shall love you through time and eternity.

Im Khane
Floks of seagulls like white snow!
Sunshine! They come in their golden socks, embellished and delicate. They go, go to the coast, quiet at its edge. The circle of the sea lies so peaceful. What pleasure!

Loosen, my sweetheart, the splendor of your closely tied hair, then let us dance in the warm light of the June evening. Wait for the good Saint Hans to announce our wedding with joyful dance, fiddle, clothing and good.

Rock gently in the shining movement of the waves. You are slender as a deer, my little sweetheart. Sleep in dreams with me.
You are mine and I am yours. Fiddle, keep silent and still.

Mit einer Wasserlilie
See, Maria, what I am bringing. Beautiful white blossoms springing on the ripples of the river. Dreamy springtime comes trembling. Will you wear a blossom as a decoration to your home? Then it will dream as if on a throne.

Child, beware of dreaming by the stream. It is perilous there as water sprites also dream there. The lilies play in the deeps. Your soul is as clear and pure as the stream. And it is dangerous to dream there.

See, Maria, what I am bringing. Beautiful white blossoms.

Auf der Strome
Still woods, which bend over the black brook, and kiss its surface with leafy tenderness. Beware, deep currents can pull and draw you down. Like you, I would often see the best in life’s spring, and many times have kissed the hand which struck most hurtfully. Yes, struck most hurtfully.
Still woods! Still woods!
JACK H. COLDIRON received the Bachelor of Music (cum laude) from Stetson University, DeLand Florida, and the Master of Church Music degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. Further graduate study was done at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas. In addition, Mr. Coldiron has studied at the German Center for Music Education, Stuttgart, Germany, the Guildhall School of Music and Drama and the Royal Academy of Music, both in London, England. He has appeared in Master Classes with Pierre Bernac, Sir Peter Pears, John Wustman, and Graham Johnson. Other private instruction has been taken with Robin Bowman, Michael Pilkington, Tina Ruta, and Horst Guenter.

Mr. Coldiron's teaching assignments include Stetson University and Southwestern Seminary, where he served for thirty-one years as Distinguished Professor of Voice. He is now in his fourteenth year as Adjunct Professor of Vocal Studies at Baylor University, Waco, Texas. He has been a guest professor in England at the Guildhall School and the Royal Academy of Music as well as the University of Southern California. He has twice served as a Master Teacher in the summer intern program at the National Association of Teacher of Singing and in a like capacity with the Association of Teachers of Singing in England. In the summer of 2007 he was a clinician in the Master Teachers of Singing Week at Westminster Choir School/Rider University in Princeton, New Jersey. In 1994 Stetson University honored Mr. Coldiron with the honorary degree Doctor of Music.

In addition to his university and private teaching Mr. Coldiron is still performing in solo vocal recital and oratorio performances as a lyric baritone.

SARA DAVIS, a native of Tupelo, Mississippi, began accompanying at the age of thirteen for choirs and private voice lessons. Later she received a piano performance degree from the university of Mississippi, moved to Texas, and taught piano in the Dallas Independent School District.

After moving to Fort Worth, she began working in the School of Church Music of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary as senior staff accompanist. Here she met and began to accompany Dr. Coldiron. She accompanied him and other faculty members in recitals, national and international competitions, as well as the school’s guest recitalists. Ms. Davis also worked alongside national and international notable conductors, singers/teachers, and accompanists who visited the school.

Retired from Southwestern, she currently enjoys vocal coaching, a private piano studio, and choral accompanying. A member of Sigma Alpha Iota, she is active in Fort Worth's alumnae chapter. Travel, bridge, needlework, and discussion groups fill all non-musical hours.