2011

Review of I'm Right Here by Constance Ørbeck-Nilssen

Shaune Young
Cedarville University, Syoung@cedarville.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.cedarville.edu/intern_book_reviews

Part of the Library and Information Science Commons, and the Modern Literature Commons

Recommended Citation

Young, Shaune, "Review of I'm Right Here by Constance Ørbeck-Nilssen" (2011). Library Intern Book Reviews. 162.
http://digitalcommons.cedarville.edu/intern_book_reviews/162
I'm Right Here
Ørbeck-Nilssen, Constance
Illustrated by Akin Duzakin
Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 2011
9780802854551

I'm Right Here is a touching reminder to hold onto the ones you love. A grandmother and her grandson are taking a walk in the forest, and he asks her what she is afraid of. She tells him all the things she is afraid of missing, and he responds with telling her about all the things and creatures he is afraid of. She tells him that when you are old you are afraid of losing the things you love, but he tells her he will always be right there. She will never lose him, and even when she is gone he will still remember her. The simple pastel illustrations give the story the gentle, soft air it deserves. Even though it discusses heavy themes of losing someone you love it is subtle enough that it would not make one sad, but glad to know that even when their loved one is gone, they will never be forgotten. I would suggest this for children who are experiencing the concept of death for the first time, ages six to ten.

Highly recommended
Shaune Young, Centennial Library Intern